

IN THIS TIME OF THANKSGIVING,
WE ARE GRATEFUL FOR YOU.

Dear Alumni, Friends and Supporters,

In 2002, the Department of Speech Communication and the School of Communications merged to become the UW Department of Communication that we know today. In our second decade together, we continue to thrive. Our goal is to be a center for excellence, and that is what we are.

We want to thank you - our remarkable collection of alumni, friends and supporters. You have served as guest speakers and mentors, offered internships, held workshops, built professional partnerships, and provided private support. You are vital to our Department and student success.

Communication is THE leadership skill of the 21st century, which is why it is the focus of our curriculum, at the center of every student opportunity we offer, and resonates throughout our daily support of our students and community.

As you watch this short video, I hope you feel tremendous pride in all YOU have made possible.

David Domke

Professor and Chair

UW Department Communication

WATCH THE VIDEO HERE

CONTACT US | PRIVACY | TERMS

© 2018 UW Communication Department | 4109 East Stevens Way NE | Seattle, WA 98105

This email was sent to Unsubscribe or change your email preferences